

QUEENSDALE RESIDENTIAL

Project Management

Using extensive first-hand experience of managing a build for a family home with all the pressures this can entail, we handhold clients through the process to make it as enjoyable as possible, minimising exposure to the more stressful elements. We negotiate on your behalf, help with decision-making and provide access to trade rates with tried and tested suppliers to ensure that clients receive the best value at every turn.

As with our own projects, we dedicate the time necessary to source the best costs and people for each element, keep on top of it all, keep clients informed and help make the right decisions in order to deliver the project on budget and on schedule.
